

The premier's rejection of the idea of military action in Russia meets with considerable approval. The Telegraph and Express say it will be received with general relief. The Daily News agrees, but says that it doubts the government's sincerity regarding the policy. It asks how it is possible to supply arms to the Kolchak government and yet refuse to do anything further. It contends that such a policy can succeed only on the assumption that the revolution is moribund.

The Post is also skeptical of the Russian policy and says:

CHICAGO MINISTER CONDUCTS SERVICES AT FEDERATED CHURCH

An inspiring series of sermons are being given this week, before large audiences, at the Federated church by Rev. M. D. Hardin, of Chicago. They are part of the special services of Holy Week. Last evening Rev. Hardin's topic was "Love's Insight," and he took as his text the words of Christ from the 25th chapter of St. John, "He Knew What was in Man." The thought was brought out in the discourse, that Christ knew the bad as he knew the good in the human race, but knowing all yet loved mankind supremely.

"He was the greatest and most far-seeing prophet of all," said Dr. Hardin, "and the supreme lover of the race. He staked his life and went to the cross, as a conqueror to the throne, in the conviction that love would rule the world."

"From that cross flows a miracle which becomes a center of the spiritual vision of the world. From it is born the religion of love, of brotherhood, which is absolutely unique."

Rev. Hardin emphasized the idea, "that the distinctions of class and station were swept away by this new religion of love, and good, high and low, found themselves practicing the principles on universal brotherhood."

Rev. Hardin considered that the most hopeful thing in the world today is "that the principles of Christ, are the great motive power of civilization, and just as applicable today as they were 19 centuries ago. The church was to present a unity of purpose so strong as to bring about the kingdom of heaven on earth, and that mankind must seriously undertake the task of lifting the vision of Christ before the world, and of uniting mankind to follow his leadership."

"Love is the impelling force of every upward step which the world has made," said Dr. Hardin, "and it is only through that love which flowed from Calvary that the present apparently hopeless condition of the world can be changed."

Community singing directed by C. M. Beasmore, was a feature of the service, and many old favorite hymns were sung by the congregation, led by a chorus choir of young people of the church.

Civil War Veteran Gets Picture 55 Years Old

Civil war veterans here will remember Thomas Caldwell, who at one time lived in Janesville and who went through the war with the 8th Wisconsin infantry, under Captain Britton. He now lives in West Concord, Minn. He recently visited in the south, where he secured a photo of "Providence Spring." The following account in a West Concord newspaper will be of interest to his old friends:

"Thomas Caldwell, who returned from the south last week, brought back a photo of 'Providence Spring,' Andersonville, Ga., with a picture of himself standing in front of it."

"It will be remembered by many old soldiers that thousands of soldiers who were imprisoned in Andersonville prison died there because there was no water to drink. One night after a heavy rain a clear spring of water burst from the hillside, and has flowed continuously until the present time."

"The United States government, after the civil war, built a memorial structure around it and named it 'Providence Spring,' the name being cut in stone over the entrance. More than 14,000 soldiers lie buried in the Andersonville cemetery, the greater number of them dying of ill treatment, starvation or thirst."

BUDAPEST REPORTS OF EXECUTIONS OF PEERS ARE DENIED

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Vienna, April 17.—Reports of the executions at Budapest of Count Michael Karolyi, Archduke Joseph and others are untrue. The city continues outwardly quiet with progress being made toward the nationalization of property. It is estimated that there are only twenty naturalized Americans and American wives of Hungarians in Hungary. It is possible that an effort will be made to send food there. There is no meat and few vegetables in the hotels and there is no salt. Eggs are plentiful while the bread sold in the city is worse than that on the market here.

When Count Karolyi was in Vienna, he called on Prof. Philip Brown, secretary of the American mission here, and told him that he would like to accept a can of condensed milk. He found socialism a different program and was much downcast when he, partly because he felt he was badly treated by the allies and partly because he is hated by the aristocrats, was told that he was a traitor.

Count Karolyi's frame of mind is characteristic of all persons in Hungary, who have been victims of the war. It is a common thing to see a party of men and women walking along the streets or promenades or sitting in cafes and then laughing and wiping their eyes. This is shown the tension which people are living who have lost all their property and the hope that came with the end of the war.

Foreigners, especially Americans, are receiving attractive marriage proposals from families of wealthy young women who expect by this means to save something from the wreck of their fortunes because of the fact that foreign property will be exempted from nationalization. Women who marry foreigners will be enabled to travel freely over the frontiers with their families. There is a disposition on the part of the new government, however, to allow middle class Hungarians to leave provided they do not take property with them.

The condition of many Hungarians who have fled to Vienna is one of abject poverty. Count Alexander Esterhazy who lost his son in the war and who was with the former Emperor Charles until the latter went to Switzerland, is finding means of subsistence by selling the furniture in his house here. He has already sold his clothes.

There has been a recent exchange of visits by officials of Hungary and German-Austria. Minister of War

HELP RUSSIANS.

The associated powers have agreed to send food into Russia under neutral control. The work of distribution will be carried on by Dr. Fridtjof Nansen, the Norwegian explorer.

This announcement comes as a gleam of hope in clearing up the Russian situation. It means that the allied powers will have to go all the way in bringing order out of chaos. It will mean that instead of keeping a few troops in the northern part of Russia to act as policemen, sufficient number will have to be provided to show the bolsheviks that wanton murder and destruction must be stopped at once.

The declaration that bolshevism must cease will bring comfort to many an American mother's heart. If the allies mean what they say, immediate steps will be taken to either reinforce those United States troops in Russia so that the demand on the bolsheviks may be backed with something more than words, or it will not be necessary to hold our troops there any longer than transportation can be furnished for them.

In either event, the step of the allied powers to put a stop to the red menace will meet with the approval of the peace-loving world.

COURTS MARTIAL.

Major General Leonard Wood, commander of the central army department, seems to have gotten at the heart of the court martial problem when he declared before the American Bar association at Washington, "that greater consideration of the human element in enforcing discipline in the army should be given." He dwelt particularly on the need of more thorough investigation of charges before submission to court martial.

Gen. Wood said that the fundamental defect in the present system of military justice is not so much in the machinery as in the rigid carrying out of the rules and orders. He says that 75 per cent of the cases which have come before general courts martial should never have been submitted.

It would appear that one of the great objections to the present system is that it would be difficult to administer to an army which was practically raised and trained in a few short months. When war was declared, the cities and country-side were combed for timber to make officers. Men were sent to the first camps and rushed through a system of training which left them almost breathless. They were at once assigned to command of military units and in most cases their ideas of military discipline were obtained from the books they had read at training camp or through impressions they had obtained in what little actual practice they got.

These were in part the officers for the conscripted men. They kept a stiff upper lip and worked with their eyes open. They said little but took every opportunity to "catch on" by watching the more experienced officers at work. Many of these first officers were young men, fresh from college who had not brushed up against the world in any great degree. Their experience in handling men was most limited. Some of them could not stand the authority which went with the position. These, perhaps, were the fellows who took advantage of the court martial system and brought about the criticism because of the harshness to which men of the ranks were subjected.

Here are some of the chief reforms recommended by Gen. Wood:

A more thorough examination of cases in the first instance.

"Better training officers in the handling of men.

"Treatment of men in a manner to enable them to maintain their self-respect.

"Appointment of more competent and experienced men to defend the accused.

"Greater care of a judge advocate to give consideration to the side of the accused, instead of acting as a prosecuting attorney.

"An injunction upon divisional and departmental commanders to make as thorough a study of each case as possible as they come up for review.

"Limitation of maximum sentences in certain classes of cases.

"No execution of death sentences without the approval of the president."

The county board of supervisors has decided that the office of county agent should be continued. Rock county can afford to engage a man who can devote his entire time to the problems which a county agent is asked to solve.

In other areas as well as in our own, the county agent has been a success when a practical man has been hired for the work. If the job is worth doing it is worth doing well, and the first step to be taken is to procure a man who knows the business.

Miss Aimee Zillmer told the county training school yesterday, that children need play to make them healthy. She said exercise was necessary to keep them that way. The older the children grow—say when they reach that period of their childhood between 35 and 40 years, they need more play than they did when they were kids of 10 and 15. Every man ought to get back into the habit of playing every day.

The school board has announced that provisions have been made for increases in the salaries to be paid to teachers next year. This is in line with the progressive steps which have recently been taken by the school board. A modern high school is of little use if the teachers to equip it are not of the highest class. High class teachers these days require at least a living wage.

That fellow who predicts that there will be a new world war in 1925 may be partly correct, but he has evidently got his wires crossed. If there is a war at that time it will be because the peace conference has not been able to get Germany to sign up; or because the bolsheviks have not all starved to death.

The farmer says the packer gets all the money and the packers say the farmer gets the bulk of the cost of a porker or a beef. No matter—father has to dig down into his pocket and pay the ready cash when all is said and done.

Rock county schools have made a splendid showing in organizing their war savings societies. More than 70 have joined the thrift ranks.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

HOW IT HAPPENED.

It happened this way: His folks said one day that they were wedded. And she was not at all the kind of wife they hoped that he would find.

And her folks wondered what she saw To love in such a son-in-law. And from the time the knot was tied Trouble was brewed on every side.

His folks insisted he should do The things he'd been accustomed to. And lie folks argued, day by day, That she should go another way.

There wasn't anything they planned But what the old folks took a hand In it, and spelled it from the start. And left them sore and sad at heart.

I've known them both for years and years. And when she came to me in tears And told her story, straight and fair, I knew the angels heard me swear, He'd left her. Gone back home, of course.

And now was talking of divorce. And then she blushed and whispered "Nothing I knew he ought to know."

I grabbed my hat and went for him And found him sitting sorrowful and grim. And I was glad for I could see That he was grieving same as she.

I'm not recalling all I said; To think of it my cheeks turn red. I told him that old folks are fools. In language never taught in schools.

He's back, and they are happy now. The old folks, though, are wondering how. It came about. It seems so strange That he and she one day should change.

And suddenly announce that they Were going to live their lives their way. They say he swore! I wish I knew If he said all I told him to.

His Many Friends
Whittet was born June 18, 1871, at Abilene, Wis., and moved with his parents to Edgerton from a farm in Jefferson county. He was educated at the University of Wisconsin, and was postmaster at Edgerton under Presidents McKinley and Roosevelt, 1901 to 1906. For a number of years he was a member of the Rock county board of supervisors, treasurer of the board of education and a member of the library board at Edgerton.

Whittet was first elected to the assembly in 1908. During the legislature of 1915 and 1917 he was speaker of the house and elaborated in his acquaintances among assembly members and members of the state, and it is said at Madison by Whittet's supporters that these men will campaign for him in the coming year.

WORLD WAR VETERANS HOLD SECOND MEETING AT ARMORY TOMORROW

The second big meeting of veterans of the great war will be held at the Janesville armory tomorrow night and members of the movement for a post or local here are urging all Rock county soldiers who can possibly attend to be there. Members of the organization are running high among the men who signed the membership roll a week ago and it is predicted that at least fifty or seventy-five more soldiers will join tomorrow night. The social end of the order is demonstrating itself with tentative plans for a big dancing party in the near future. It is expected that the matter will be taken up at the meeting tomorrow night.

Word today from Colonel John Salzman, temporary secretary of the state organization, gave the information that the veterans are already well on the way to being a big factor in the state. To date, twenty-one posts or locals have met and organized. They are located at Adams, Washburn, Clinton, Eau Claire, Fond du Lac, Milton, Eau Claire, Algona, Wausau, Milwaukee, Sparta, Tomah, Cento, Baraboo, Hudson, Lake Geneva, Clintonville, Oshkosh, Chippewa Falls and Janesville. Col. Salzman said that some fifteen or twenty more organizations are in process of forming and will be completed within the next few weeks.

The fleet is to be operated by the Brooks Steamship Company of New York in the trans-Atlantic trade.

HOLD TWO TO TRIAL FOR ALLEGED HOLDUP OF C. & N. W. R. MAN

Frank and Martha Watson, 229 North Franklin street, were held for trial by Judge J. C. Maxfield in municipal court yesterday afternoon on a warrant secured by John Miller, Northwestern railroad employee. The police say the case is the same as the one in the "Badger Game." Miller's warrant charges the woman with an attempt to rob and the man with assault with a deadly weapon for robbery.

File of the charges were made by the Watsons when testimony was taken yesterday and they had their own version of the affair. Miller, on the stand, testified that the Watson woman had attempted to entice him into the residence at 229 North Franklin street on several occasions but that he refused her entreaties until Wednesday night, when he was in the place a short while. Miller testified that Watson entered the room and armed with a gun demanded to know how much money Miller had. Miller said that he gave up between $30 and $40 and that on the demands of Watson signed a check which had been written by Watson. Miller claimed he was too frightened by the man to know what he was doing. The amount of the check was and declared he had no money in the bank.

Attorney Edward H. Ryan who appeared for the man and woman, argued for the dismissal of the Watsons on the ground that the state, represented by District Attorney Stanley G. Dunwiddie, had not proved its case. Judge Maxfield deemed otherwise and set April 23, next Wednesday, as the date for trial.

Fliers Oiling Up for Trans-Atlantic Trip

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
St. Johns, N. F., April 17.—Weather conditions favorable for flying prevailed here today and Capt. Frederick F. Raynham, British aviator, and Harry G. Hawker, his Australian rival for trans-Atlantic flight honors, looked to incoming weather reports for word as to whether the "aerial breakers" over the ocean would permit them to "hop off."

Raynham prepared to make a trial flight. Hawker conceded that the soggy ground tended to interfere with a successful "take off."

British Aviator Ready.
East Church, Eng., April 17.—Major J. C. P. Wood, the British aviator who is to attempt a trans-Atlantic flight from Ireland, announced his intention of flying to Limerick this afternoon. If the present improved weather conditions continue, he said, he would start his flight across the Atlantic tomorrow.

PROF. ROHAN PAYS FITTING TRIBUTE TO FATHER SHERIDAN

Prof. Michael G. Rohan of Marquette University, Milwaukee, has paid a fitting tribute to the late Father Francis Sheridan, son of Mr. and Mrs. James J. Sheridan of this city, whose demise occurred last week. Prof. Rohan's eulogy to the Rev. Sheridan is as follows:
What a noble pall was cast on the parishioners of St. Rose's parish when they learned a few days ago of the premature death of one who ministered to the spiritual wants in the capacity of assistant pastor for three years with a zeal, a devotion, and a wealth of piety and fervor that elicited the esteem and undying affection of every member of the large and prosperous parish.

At the news of his death many an eye was dimmed, many a heart felt a pang of poignant sorrow, many a fervent prayer was silently offered for the repose of the pure and noble soul of one who in the scene of his first and last priestly labors in Saint Rose's parish has left an impression that time with its mellowing hand cannot soon efface.

Who can measure the anguish of soul his early death has brought to the devoted father and mother, brothers and sisters, who found in him the exemplar of all that was kind and true. Well done, priest who was faithful servant. Every man, woman and child that hoped and prayed during his brief illness that he would soon be restored to his "indomitable" will power—his resolute determination, his heroic courage, would triumph, but Heaven decreed otherwise.

Who can measure the anguish of soul his early death has brought to the devoted father and mother, brothers and sisters, who found in him the exemplar of all that was kind and true. Well done, priest who was faithful servant. Every man, woman and child that hoped and prayed during his brief illness that he would soon be restored to his "indomitable" will power—his resolute determination, his heroic courage, would triumph, but Heaven decreed otherwise.

The large delegation of busy men who journeyed from Milwaukee to attend his funeral and thus pay their last tribute of respect to their Sogarth Aaron, bespeaks the warmth and affection in which the finished gentleman was held by every member of the parish.

It is very much to be regretted that his able and kindly pastor Very Rev. Father P. H. Durnin, who watched over him with paternal solicitude, was unable to be present at the last ceremonies, owing to his having undergone an operation on the day of Father Sheridan's death, because for his deceased friend and assistant he cherished a deep and abiding love.

Farewell, gentle, genial and departed friend, what hopes and aspirations were not snatched in twain in thy too early death, but we who remain in union with your large circle of friends and relations will cherish your memory and follow you in spirit beyond the portals of the tomb.

Peace to his ashes; rest to his soul, and may the verdant soil of Mount Olivet rest lightly over his youthful frame!

FORMER MINNESOTA GOVERNOR TO SPEAK AT BIG LOAN RALLY

Ex-Governor Eberhardt of Minnesota has been secured by the local Victory loan campaign committee to speak at the public meeting at the Myers theatre planned for Tuesday, April 24. On account of other activities the date of the meeting has been changed from Friday to Thursday. This change necessitates the date for the get-together meeting of the men and women campaigners being changed to April 23 instead of April 24.

Campaign officials are elated over the securing of Governor Eberhardt to speak here and are making arrangements for a big meeting. He is considered to be a strong speaker—one who will stir enthusiasm to a high pitch. Other numbers on the program are planned.

The appeal for volunteers to aid in the campaign has been answered by a number of men and women but more are needed. To those who work in the drive, medals will be awarded. The medals are suitably inscribed. One of these medals has been received at loan headquarters.

Three payment plans are available to Janesville subscribers—the government installment plan, the bank installment plan, and the complete cash subscription.

The government plan which has proved popular here in past loans calls for a payment of 10 per cent with subscription, 10 per cent July 15, and 20 per cent on August 12, September 9, October 7, November 11.

Under the bank plan subscribers may make agreements to suit with local banks but payments must be completed in ten months.

The cash plan calls for the payment of the entire subscription before May 10.

COUNTY BOARD HAS HOT SESSIONS; AGENT QUESTION UP AGAIN

the aid of Commander Perigo et al and with heavy calibre and long range guns shortly silenced the local attack.

Richardson is Target.
Supervisor Smith demanded to know the why of the Janesville man's question as to banks and the interest paid when he (Mr. Richardson), two years ago, got another supervisor to present the resolution to the board which decided on the two percent return on all the question raised by Mr. Richardson proved a boom-crang.

Supervisor Perigo declared, "The county board has broken the gentlemen's agreement of Rock county bankers. No more will they be in a position to get together, decide on a rate of interest and put it up to us to take it or leave it." He said he and we'll tell the Rock county bankers how much interest we want and not they tell us what they'll give. Your committee could have gotten four per cent from a Chicago bank. We placed the money in Beloit because a movement here broke the county bankers' combine. From now on Rock county is going to secure just return on its money."

There was full agreement on the part of the board to back the banking committee.

Ed. Parker's Cohorts.
Purchased stockholders and Rock county's better farmers invaded the meeting en masse to boost for the keeping of the agriculture agent. They were led by Ed. Parker.

As of yet it proved to be a battle between the rural and the city representatives in the board itself. "Why the farmer members persist in their attempt to down a proposition vitally and solely for their own interests is a question I can't understand," was the statement of an uninterested visitor and he found backers amongst the ruralists there boosting for the agent.

Jeffrey Winham of Milton, Dan Marquardt of Milton, M. L. Wilkins of Bradford, Bert Skinner of Beloit, Wright of Plymouth, J. H. Fisher of Center, R. K. Overton of La Prairie, ex-supervisor said to have been ousted from the board in his township because of his stand for the agriculture agent, Nels Benson, Beloit and Supervisors Perigo and Smith and Beloit of Clinton and Wilson Lane of Janesville, with many other farmers and several city members of the board boosted for the farm expert.

Opposition Silent.
The opposition save in one or two cases kept its seat but showed its strength on the final vote. The result carried by a single ballot, 21 to 18.

Supervisor Joseph Denning held the precise position and wanted to cast his ballot, not in the order in which his name came in the voting list, but after the farm members had signified their desires. Denning refused to vote at first and Clerk Lee started on down the list until Supervisor Dalton sprang to his feet and inquired, "Is this gentleman from Janesville going to vote any time he sees fit or is he going to vote according to Hyle?" In the parlance of the gentleman from Clinton, Mr. Denning voted "according to Hyle."

The board appropriated the sum of $2,000 for a period of two years as salary for the agent. They were expected to name the expert today. A recount this morning showed that

Piling Up a Fortune

The marvelous power of compound interest is not understood by a great many people. For example—if you clip your interest coupons from your Liberty Bonds and deposit them at interest it will be only a little while until you are getting profit on your interest money too. This growth goes on until in time a wonderful total is reached. Let your fortune grow. Deposit your interest money and let it earn more interest for you.

the final results stood 21 to 19 instead of 20 to 19 as was first announced at the board yesterday.

Looks Are What Count.

MYERS THEATRE.

"Mary's Ankle" Coming.

"Mary's Ankle" is the amusing title of a three act farce comedy which will make its bow at Myers theater, Friday evening, April 18. It is being exploited as a gloom dispeller, from the pen of May Tully, the well known writer of vaudeville sketches. The Elton theater, New York, housed it for four months last fall, and it is said to have had successful runs in Boston and Chicago.

While the story of "Mary's Ankle" is withheld for apparent reasons, it is known to concern the fortunes of three young professional men who have gone to the metropolis directly from their alma mater. They are so hard pressed financially that they can't pay even the room rent of one of them in order, in order that the other two may find a haven with him, so they all three put their heads together and evolve a most amusing scheme to get funds. A charming young woman becomes entangled in their plans and it is not until everybody appears to be hopelessly entangled in a chain of suspicious circumstances which is beyond explanation that the farce is brought to a pleasant end.

The cast will include such notable players as William H. Lytell, Helen Spring, Dorothy Sautter, James Billings, Hal Gwynn, Thomas F. Myers, William Shaffer, Ollie Cameron and Dick Lee.

A WOMAN'S BUSINESS

THE PLAY. They applauded, though they were sitting out of duty. Janet said, pressing her already wet tiny ball of a handkerchief against her lips. Wait paced the manager's office, too wrought up with the tension of the play to speak. Only once essayed a faint smile as he quizzed the little blonde idly.

"Can't tell much from the applause after the first curtain," he said, undecidedly. "They warm up. They may be thoughtful. They may be puzzled. They may feel that the play is. They may want a different version—or they may not like it at all. Audiences are queer things."

Wait, who had decided that the audience had already given an adverse verdict on the play, looked up with a glimmer of encouragement. The focus would put the case exactly as he saw it.

"When shall we be able to tell?" he asked. Janet looked nervously for the answer.

Perhaps at the end of the next act, Rowe said. "Perhaps not till it's all over. Perhaps not till the reviews have printed their reviews. Maybe not even then. The director has a way of going his own crazy, and often does not agree with the way the newspaper Solomon-Wises see it."

They went back to their box at the buzz of the curtain announcer.

To Janet and to Wait the occasion was painfully tense. It had been a gradually increasing strain from the time the manager gave Wait the order for the play; through the writing of it, through the considerable re-writing; through the casting of rehearsals and finally the first night at Rowe's big theater. Had they felt that the applause was sweeping and contagious, the tension would have become vibrant joy. But the hand-clapping at the end of the first act was formal.

Janet alternately thrilled at the fine rendition Wait's play was getting on the stage and grew cold at the seeming lack of response from the audience. She knew what Wait was going through, in spite of the pursued-up lips through which he let no word of comment escape.

At the end of the play, Rowe said: "I have never had to wait so long to find out the verdict. I don't know yet!"

Janet and Wait begged off from attending a supper party after the play. Instead they followed close behind a young man and his wife, who had come out of the theater. They got into the same car and sat down in the seat directly behind them. They were an entirely undistinguished pair, thoroughly typical of the great body of average theater-goers. But she was dressed with a touch of extravagance for the walk of life in which the man with her undoubtedly worked. The Steedmans suddenly grew self-conscious.

"How did you like the show, Jen?" the young man asked, glancing sideways at his companion, as though he were treading dangerous ground. The girl looked away and stirred uneasily. "Oh, pretty good," she said, without enthusiasm. "Gee, that woman in the play was some pill, wasn't she, spending all her husband's money that way?"

"Think so?" the man said, lightly, pretending to be reading the newspaper. The girl kept silent for a few minutes.

"Say, Billy, I ain't like that to you, and I?" she asked anxiously in a low voice.

"N-no, I guess not," the man replied. "But here's the restaurant. Come along!"

"No," she said, decisively. "We can use them six dollars for something better than a smuck in a cabaret. Besides, you gotta get up early to work tomorrow!"

The young man sank back in his seat with a relieved expression.

"You're a good kid, Jen," he said. (To be continued.)

GEORGETTES ARE IN PRINT AGAIN

By ELOISE.

Spring is bringing the most beautiful new editions of printed materials. Voiles, chiffons, georgettes and organdies are among the great numbers of fabrics which have burst into print of late. The list of garments made of these dainty printed materials includes blouses, smocks, vests, separate skirts, hats, parasols, entire frocks and summer capes. And we have even seen handkerchiefs of printed georgette.

This charming afternoon frock is made of georgette printed in georgina pastel shades. It is draped in long graceful lines with a tunic reaching below the knees in effortless effect. The sleeves and above the elbows, but a long loose bell-shaped cuff extends almost to the wrist. The color is a delicate rose and blue. Handwork finishes all the edges and a girde of shaded satin ribbon encircles the neck, making a loosely and ends in streamers. The back of the frock is a new feature of the dress in the manner in which the skirt is draped shorter in the front than in the back.

Being As Important As Doing.
"I think she is an asset to the club because she has such a keen active mind that she is a mental stimulus to us all." I heard a woman say the other day.

She was speaking of another woman who had been criticized because she was not ready to serve on a committee which the club president wanted her help on. "What's the use of her belonging to the club if she is always so busy about other things that she can't do any work," the club president had said.

And then the other woman had made her defense.

One Can Make Gifts Of Character.
About the merits of this particular case I did not know enough to judge, but the discussion interested me because it brought up a point which in these days of intense activity I think we are sometimes in danger of ignoring. Namely, that one can make oneself valuable to the world by being as well as doing.

One can make gifts to the world of character as well as activity. For instance, among my friends there is a woman whose serenity and perfect poise is a daily gift to all with whom she comes in contact. I heard her talking over the telephone yesterday, and as I heard the pleasant serene way in which she called for her number, corrected the telephone girl's mistake and thanked her for service rendered, I thought what a gift a moment of contact with such a temperament must be to the girl. Something, I should imagine, like the shadow of a great rock in a weary land.

A Happy Disposition A Gift to the World.

A happy disposition, not the phony, form into small cones or balls with floured hands and dip into well-beaten egg, then in bread crumbs. Fry in deep, hot dripping or cooking oil.

Banana Pie.—Bake rich pie crust. Then stir together two eggs well beaten, three-quarter cup sugar, one tablespoon of cornstarch, one pint milk, one teaspoon vanilla. Put in double boiler. Cook till thick.

When cool slice two or three bananas in crust, pour custard on all. Beat whites of eggs with one tablespoon of sugar, spread on top and bake in oven till nice and brown.

DISCOVERIES.

Always keep a pair of kitchen shears in the kitchen. They are useful for other cooking utensils. Following are some of the uses to which they may be put: Cutting parsley, lettuce, pimento, etc., or garnishes; trimming ham, bacon, steak, etc.; cutting from grape fruit and oranges; hulling strawberries, gooseberries and the like.

Spring cleaning time is coming and blankets must be washed. To require much soap and the finer it is shaved the quicker the work is done. Instead of paying a high price for this at the store shave a good white soap with a common plane. Taking a piece of wood to a bench or box, and placing the cake of soap against it. When the bar gets too small, turn the plane over and draw the last small piece of soap across the plane. In this manner every bit of soap can be shaved into very thin flakes that dissolve immediately.

If you do not have much time to prepare breakfast and wish to have biscuits, make them by your favorite recipe the night before; roll, cut and place in pan all ready to put in the oven the first thing in the morning. They will be just as good made the night before. You can also make pie crust and have it rolled and placed on pan ready to fill.

To drive away ants, now that the warm days are coming, try putting red pepper in the places ants frequent the most. Scrub shelves or drawers with strong carbolic soap.

A pessimist is one who sighs on days when there are cloudless skies. Complaining that the sun's so bright it quite obscures his share of light!

Heart and Home Problems

By ELIZABETH THOMPSON

LETTERS MAY BE ADDRESSED TO MRS. THOMPSON, IN CARE OF THE GAZETTE

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I kept company with a young man about four months, but I knew him for five years before we started going together.

He is poor and not very good-looking, but he has always treated me fine—with honor and respect and never wanted to go with boys he knew did not have a good reputation. As I had a good name he wanted me to keep it. But I longed for the company of these boys and what I thought was a good time, and so I gave him up.

Now they have my name down and don't care anything for me. I have tried to regain the young man's friendship, as I have found I love him and I will break my heart to give him up.

He is going with another girl and I heard she thinks a great deal of him, and he has the same respect for her he had for me.

How can I win his love back? I can't think of giving him up and so please give me some encouragement.

BECKY, HEATED.
The price which a girl has to pay for some mistakes is very great. I am afraid you will find it so. But it will be worth while to pay it and be square.

Stop associating with undesirable people of either sex. It will be better to be lonely for a time and in the end you will regain a better class of friends. I will be glad to take up some study. This will help to occupy your mind and will improve it at the same time. Read and attend lectures, because this will assist greatly in making you interesting to a better class of people.

Almost nothing is impossible to the person who wants a thing enough to go after it in the right way. It will not be easy to regain the friendship of the young man, but you can do it if you work hard enough. When he sees your effort to change and get away from undesirable associations, he will respect you very much. If you make your personality lovable and cultured there is a chance that he will love you again.

Have you the strength of character to work so hard?

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Kindly advise what to do for nits on the hair. Give a formula that will not hurt the hair or skin. I have tried washing several times, but this does not help it. Tell me where to get it and how to make it and tell me how to use it.

A READER.
Get a package of Larkspur at the drug store. Sleep it slowly until you have made a strong tea. Wash the hair in the tea and let it dry on. After the hair is dry pick off the dead nits which cling to the hair.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) Who should buy a bride's wedding clothes, her parents or her bridegroom?

(2) I am 17. What length should my skirts be? (3) The girl's parents should provide her wedding clothes.

(4) A 17-year-old girl should wear her dresses to her shoe tops.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have seen a girl several times and would like to meet her, but no one seems to know her. How can I meet her?

ANXIOUS.
Keep up your search for some one who knows the girl. Through introduction is the only right way to become acquainted.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl of 16 and am engaged to a man of 28. I love him very much. Do you think he is too old for me? My father objects to the marriage, but my mother does not.

BEAUTIFUL ONE.
I agree with your father. You are too young to think of marriage and the man is several years too old for you.

HEALTH TALKS

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

LETTERS MAY BE ADDRESSED TO DR. BRADY, IN CARE OF THE GAZETTE

WHY NOT COUGH?
Cough is a symptom of something wrong somewhere in the neighborhood of the respiratory tract.

The respiratory tract includes, for example, the cavity of the ear and the nasal passages; something wrong in either of these places may cause the cough which the victim just knows is coming from deep in the chest. Nine times out of ten the coughing is a great deal to nature in curing the disease that causes the cough. However, there is nothing in it for the chronic cougher. He is a chronic cougher because he has a chronic inflammation of the larynx done by coughing. Whatever the harm may be, I dunno. Of course, anybody so utterly lacking in the rudiments of politeness and civility as to perpetrate an open-face cough in the presence of other individuals deserves the worst possible treatment—a bottle of cough dope is fair enough treatment for such a criminal spreader of disease.

I am a great believer in medicine skillfully used. If any reader doubts this it is because I do not prescribe many medicines in this department. That would not be skillful. But when a cough develops in my household, believe me, it must be a terrible cough before I'll take any steps to stop it with medicine. I don't want to lose any of my family just yet. So, if it is a cough, I'll give 'em cough medicine. I, indeed, I'll give 'em something to aid the cough, but never anything to stop it or diminish it.

There is no doubt that the great danger of simple tracheitis (inflammation of the windpipe), or in children simple coryza (so-called head cold) is aided and abetted to develop into severe bronchitis or pneumonia by the maladministration of the form of cough dope. The dope, with its narcotic "kicker," just blunts sensibility enough to prevent or diminish the coughing for the time being, and then the inflammation spreads more deeply, and first thing you know the "perfectly harmless" dope has converted a slight illness into a dangerous or fatal one.

To aid and lessen the cough, in any acute respiratory trouble, in child or adult, this mixture may be given. I am not afraid to present this formula, because no matter what the proof, reader may do to it, no harm can result.

Citrate of Sodaone ounce
Glycerinone ounce
Juice of one lemon.....one ounce
Whole flaxseed, small tablespoon
Waterone pint
Steep the flaxseed in the water (do not boil); then add the other ingredients. Dose, a tablespoonful four or five times a day, in child or adult.
This medicine, with a full dose of Kindly state whether there would be any risk involved in a person taking your somersaults six months after an operation for appendicitis. Some folks think no exercise at all should be taken for a year (A. P. C.).

ANSWER.—In the first place somersaults are not exercise. In the next place, some folks think no exercise should be taken under any circumstances. Personally I resumed setting up or efficiency exercises one month after my appendicitis operation, with my doctor's reluctant permission, however. Ask your doctor. He knows best what would be advisable for you.

My Lones Out, As Usual.
My daughter claims that a child twenty-two months old should have meat in the form of chopped beef or a ham steak once a week. I say only the blood of the meat after it had been on the fire for a few minutes. Don't you think meat is too hard for a child to digest? (Mrs. G. M. B.)

ANSWER.—It is certainly not harder than blood to digest. A baby old enough to have any teeth is old enough to chew his food, and a baby who can chew his food ought to have meat three times a week in my opinion. I am thinking of twentieth century babies; I gather that they were awful softies in the old soothing syrup and cradle rocking days.

SING AND STRETCH LEGS UNDER GUARD

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Coblentz, Wednesday, April 16.—Seven American officers with interpreters have been assigned for duty on trains which will cross Germany with Polish Troops. On each train there will be an allied convoy and at each German station where trains stop there will be allied guards.

Successful co-operation between German technical railway workers and German military authorities on one hand and the Polish troops on the other, will be insured by the intervention of allied guards and officers whenever necessary. The military mission in charge of the transportation of General Haller's forces consists of 32 members, the American, French, British, and Belgian armies providing eight officers each with an interpreter and clerk.

Any singing or manifestation of such a nature that it might cause conflicts with the Germans is prohibited on the trains. Where the men leave the train to "stretch their legs" they will not be allowed to leave the station.

Dandruff Surely Destroys The Hair

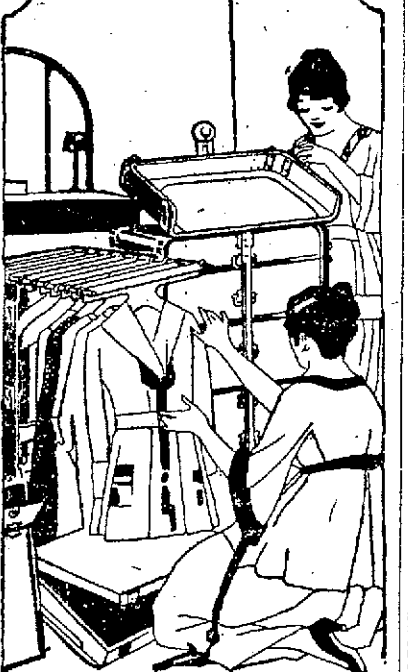

Girls—if you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy, silky hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will starve your hair and ruin it if you don't.

It doesn't do much good to try to brush or wash it out. The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop, and your hair will look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and four ounces is all you will need, no matter how much dandruff you have. This simple remedy never fails.

Janes Practice Tonight! Come On, You Fans

By George McManus.

BE OUT THIS P.M. AND ROOT FOR TEAM

BRINGING UP FATHER.

Off-field Problems of Kid Gleason Loom Up Most in Team's Prospects

Kid Gleason, launching out on his coming-out season as a big league manager, faces a peculiar situation. As his White Sox aggregation stacks up on paper it looks mighty formidable. He has gathered together the team Comiskey had before the epidemic of jumping to the major and putty league wrecked it. That team was primed—everybody will admit—to grab off the pennant in 1918 when the blowup came.

Now Gleason does not need to worry about the playing strength of his squad from any angle. It is strong in the outfield, has a good infield, boasts one of the best catchers in the game and has a good pitching staff. But what may affect the Sox's chances are the sticktiveness of the jumpers and the feelings of the fans toward them. Red Faber and Eddie Cicotte, stars of the world series two years ago, are with the club. Ben Williams, Danforth, Russell, Wolfgang and Shellenback complete the hurling squad.

To relieve Schalk if necessary Gleason has Lynn, Stump and Lake.

The infield probably will be Gaudin on first, Collins on second, old Bucko Weaver at short and McMullen or Risberg at third—probably McMullen. Jackson, John Collins, Leibold, Leibold and Murphy will take care of the garden positions capably.

If the men who slid under the fence last year and put their heart into the game and the fans back out in their efforts, the Chicago team must be watched this year.

MASKED MARVEL MEETS DEMETRAL HERE APRIL 24

BY KID BIFF

Letters from The Masked Marvel, famous wrestler, and Jimmy Demetral, widely known mat crack were received this morning. These two fast men will meet here Thursday night, April 24, for a finish fight, winner to take all of the gate receipts.

The Masked Marvel claims that he has never been planned to the mat, and that this season he has never been in danger of losing a single fall. Demetral is just as confident, and the match should be a bitterly fought one and should attract the eyes of the wrestling world to Janesville.

ALL-STARS PRACTICE FOR BATTLE, SUNDAY

In preparation for the game with the Red Devils, Sunday afternoon at the All-Stars baseball team is ordered to get out tonight at 6:30 for a hard workout. Itain and wet grounds stopped last night's workout. A ruling has been made where a man is fined if he fails to report for practice and a number of misses will automatically suspend him from the team. A captain of the Stars will be elected tonight.

"We are out to show the Red Devils what hard luck is when we meet them Sunday afternoon," said Art Bick, manager. "They will have to get a new team in order to run against us Sunday—Wall and Hager made up the Red Devils' battery last Sunday against the Gas House Olympics and they, assisted by Hager's wicked work with the stick, won the game for the Devils.

"These three men will play against the Red Devils Sunday unless something turns up. Our treasurer says our financial standing is all right and we are making arrangements to get some fast teams here this year."

SECURITY—$6,000,000

These bonds are a direct closed first mortgage on land, leasehold, buildings and equipment, valued at $6,000,000 and described as follows:

THE ALEXANDRIA HOTEL—The leading hotel of Los Angeles, a modern fireproof building of seven stories, containing 700 rooms. Los Angeles probably needs high-grade hotel accommodations more than any other city of the West. The Alexandria has proved itself a profitable hotel property, its net earnings exceeding the greatest annual bond interest of this issue.

THE CALIFORNIA HOTEL—Ideally located in a park of 21 acres in the exclusive residential section of Los Angeles this superb hotel of 470 rooms will cater more to the permanent resident and the wealthier traveler making prolonged visits to this city and attractive vicinity.

LAND—The Alexandria occupies the leasehold fronting 240 feet on Fifth and 204 feet on Spring Streets, in the business section of Los Angeles. The California tract fronts 680 feet on Wilshire Boulevard and has a depth of 1,400 feet.

BORROWING CORPORATION—The Wilshire Boulevard Hotel Company. The hotels will be under the direction of the corporation which successfully conducts the famous chain of hotels comprising the Green, Huntington, and Maryland hotels of Pasadena, the Belvedere of Santa Barbara, and the Palace and Fairmont of San Francisco.

EARNINGS—The net annual earnings of The Alexandria for the past four years have averaged $255,000. Based on a thorough investigation, we estimate the net yearly income of The California at $500,000. The combined earnings total $755,000—over three and a half times the greatest annual bond interest.

MONTHLY DEPOSITS—The borrowing corporation covenants to make monthly deposits in a sinking fund to insure prompt application of the earnings to the payment of interest and of the bonds as they serially mature.

This issue has been purchased by us after a thorough investigation. The bonds are surrounded by the safeguards of the Straus Plan, to which are due our record of thirty-seven years without loss to any investor.

Chicago Grain Review
Chicago, April 17.—Fresh strength developed in the corn market today owing to continued unfavorable weather for the crop movement. Postponement of the New York market strike and only a transient bearish influence. Increasing complaints were received from rural sources that corn was getting out of condition. Opening prices which ranged from the same as yesterday's finish to 1/2 cent higher with May 1.55 1/2 to 1.55 3/4. A moderate general sale and then by a new upturn.

Subsequently reports of car shortages put the bears at a further disadvantage, and so too, did evening up for the holiday tomorrow. Prices closed unsettled, 1/4 to 1/2 cent net higher with May 1.55 and July 1.55 1/2 to 1.55 3/4.

Oats sympathized with the firmness of corn. After opening unchanged to 1/2 cent higher with July 67 1/2 to 67 3/4, the market steadied at about yesterday's latest figures.

Weakness of hog quotations led to a drop in the price of provisions. Pork dropped 1/2 cent a barrel.

HEARD FROM OUR SOLDIERS AND SAILORS

SGT. JAMES CALVERLEY.
The following letter from Sgt. James Calverley, who was with Frank Hill, son of Alderman W. J. Hill, at the time of his death in camp at Camp McArthur, Waco, Texas, has been received here:

"Dear Sir: It has been in my mind to write and thank you people for the many nice things that you have said about me during the following of my work at Camp McArthur, Waco, Texas, where so many of the boys from Janesville went to train for the great struggle. Thank God it is over. From Janesville, as well as from many other towns, have gone real heroes."

"Camp McArthur is almost a thing of the past now, but in the minds of one of Waco's dearest citizens, on Sunday in a letter, 'Time will not obliterate the memory of the dear boys from the north.'"

"I have been unable to do any work for four months because of spinal trouble, caused by lifting sick boys in the base hospital. It has been a great trial for me to have to give up my work, but I have done my part as best I could. I hope to visit your good city again as soon as I am strong enough."

Sincerely yours,
Sgt. James Calverley.

SGT. CHARLES SNYDER.
The following letter will be of interest to Edgerton readers. It was written to Mrs. Sue Fessenden, the commanding officer under whom her son, Willard, was serving at the time he was killed while in action in France:

"Dear Mother: I received your letter and was glad to hear that you received mine. Dear lady, you asked me to relate a few incidents that happened during my acquaintance with Bill. Well the first time that I really got acquainted with Bill was during the battle of Cantigny. I was a private at that time, but nevertheless I took command of the platoon that was in for our company were all killed or wounded, and when our company reached their objective myself and Bill and another man by the name of Ben Wiggins found out we had 500 yards in the German line, and we were quickly surrounded by Fritzies. "At the point of our bayonets we got safely back to our lines. There wasn't a scratch on me or Bill, but the other had got stuck between the shoulder blades, but he is still living today, or rather was after that battle. Last July we were in the second battle of the Marne, the July counter-offensive, and Bill was wounded in that battle, which lasted for six days, and I think he was hit the second day out. He went to the hospital and never came back until after the St. Mihiel battle. From there we went to the Verdun sector—Argonne woods, and on the 4th of October I was rushing hill 262 with my platoon. "Bill didn't reach the top, but he hollered for the rest of his squad to go ahead and take it. After we had taken the hill I came back to look over my killed and wounded, and Bill was among the killed. Holding a death grip on that machine of his, he said, 'Mother, don't worry, for every one of my men's lives were paid for dearly. We made it a point never to take a prisoner, and we were one of the best units in the army.' "Yes, I saw Bill fall, and he did not need a stretcher, for when I came back he was already dead. We could not bury him that day, but the following night I took two men with me and buried him myself. I know that Bill is dead and all the boys that are left can swear to the same thing. Bill complained about having one day to me and found that it was going out of the company all right, so I told him that his mail must be stopped on the way across. Bill was always a quiet sort of fellow, never had much to say, but willing in anything, no matter what it was and how dangerous."

"I have received both of your pictures and I thank you very much, especially for Bill's. I've been all through the company trying to find a picture of Bill, so am sure glad you sent me one. As to the other picture, I seem to use I have seen the last before somewhere, but cannot remember where it was. Excuse my writing and misspelling, and I hope you will receive this letter soon. "Bill's best friend in the army,"
